

Bell companies operate an "essential facility", and should have to accommodate other ISP firms that wish to purchase access from them. This wholesale provisioning will stimulate competition and be of benefit to the consumers. To not do so would cripple the '96 Telecom Act. The Bell companies have resisted from the start, and continue to defy the '96 Telecom Act. Enforce the rules, don't bend to their demands.